DAYLIGHT PLEA BY BUSINESS MEN

Warn Governor Killing of Bill Would Be Thwarting Will of People

More than 150 manufacturers and business men, representing many of the largest industries and many thousands of employes in all sections of the State, assembled in a hurried conference in Boston today in a final effort to secure the passage of the daylight saving bill in the Senate.

A committee of eight members, headed by Frederick Fosdick, the Fitchburg manufacturer, went directly to the State House and told Governor Coolidge that if he played any part in the final drive being made to defeat daylight saving, he would be thwarting the will of the vast majority of the people.

Included in this committee group was George N. Smith of Wellesley, master of the Middlesex and Norfolk Pomona Grange and master of the Wellesley Grange, who said to Governor Coolidge that at least 50 per cent. of the farmers actually favor daylight saving. He said that the Boston Florists' Club and the Boston Florists' and Gardeners' Association; the latter having 400 members, voted unanimously for daylight saving.

Frederick Fosdick, the Fitchburg

KING CHRISTIAN X.

London, March 30.—Dashes occurred in Copenhagen between troops who were guarding the palace of King Christian X. and crowds that were clamoring for a republic in Denmark, said an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from the Danish capital.

The public square surrounding the Danish King's palace was guarded by soldiers with drawn bayonets who held back the crowds that moved up and down shouting, "Long live the republic."

King Christian has rejected the ultimatum of Socialists and Trade Unionists demanding the reinstatement of former Premier Zahle, said an Exchange Telegraph dispatch this afternoon. The Socialists and Trade Unionists threatened a general strike if their demand was not met.

Keep Pledge of 1914 to Ireland, Says Asquith, Favoring Dominion Rule

By International News Service.

London, March. 30.—Former Premier H. H. Asquith formally assumed leadership of the opposition in the House of Commons this afternoon. He made a strong attack upon Premier Lloyd George's Home Rule for Ireland bill.

Mr. Asquith said he would refuse to approve the new measure when repeals the 1914 home rule act unless it redeems the pledges made in 1914.

"The new bill is cumbrous and inefficient," declared Mr. Asquith. "It will not strike at the root of the evil until there is a uniform system of government that is able to count on the co-operation of all for its enforcement."

Mr. Asquith urged a dominion form of government for Ireland. Referring to Irish conditions, he said that the murder immunity now prevalent there "proves Ireland is not being governed." The former Premier attacked the duplication of political machinery in the home rule bill, which he called costly and unworkable and unpopular with everybody. Mr. Asquith said he had struggled for Irish unity for thirty years.

"Now comes this new bill, which starts dualism (double parliament system), with the loveless skeleton of an Irish council in the background and behind all the spectral figure of a single Irish parliament," continued the ex-Premier.

Former Chancellor of the Exchequer A. Bonar Law followed Mr. Asquith and spoke for the government.

"The dominions are mistresses of their own destiny," declared Mr. Law. "Under the dominion system the Sinn Fein majority would be entitled to declare a republic."

London, March 30.—The Sinn Fein prisoners who fill the Londonderry, Ireland, jail to overflowing, are threatening trouble and machine guns and armored cars are being held in readiness by the British authorities, said an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Londonderry this afternoon. Joseph Sweeney, a Sinn Fein member of Parliament from Donegal, has been arrested.

RACE RIOTING IN HOSPITAL

Shell-Shocked White Veterans Beat Negro Soldiers for Insulting Nurses

Foxboro, March 30.—A number of colored soldiers, patients at the Norfolk Reconstruction Hospital, were badly beaten up by white shell-shocked service men during a race riot Saturday night, it was learned today.

According to the police, the trouble started when the colored men, who had jumped their bounds, became intoxicated and insulted several of the nurses at the hospital.

It was said that the medical staff attempted to pacify the white men, but they broke away from all restraint when one of the colored men slapped a nurse's face.

WHITES PURSUE NEGROES.

Roused to a pitch of wild indignation, the white men, although many of them were weak from wounds, armed themselves with guns and clubs, and proceeded to "clean up." The negroes fled, pursued by the white men, and the Walpole police were summoned.

A detail of policemen were rushed to the hospital, but it was some time before the men could be located. In the meantime the negroes, about fifteen in number, had been severely dealt with. They were pounded and bruised with gun butts and clubs, and at least one man was stripped of his clothing.

POLICE STOP RIOT.

The police arrived in time to prevent any of the colored men from receiving fatal wounds, and succeeded in stopping the riot. The colored men were taken back to the hospital, where their wounds were dressed, and they were then placed under arrest, pending a court martial investigation.

Several of the white soldiers were also suffering from bruises and because of their previous wounds and shell shock were in a serious condition. It was stated that there was only one guard on duty, himself a patient, and that he was unable to restrain his fellows when they started after the negroes.

By International News Service.

Denver, Col., March 30.—A "melon" of approximately $6,000,000 in the form of a stock dividend amounting to 200 per cent., will be distributed to shareholders of the Continental Oil Company, a Colorado corporation, next month, it became known today.

Each stockholder will receive two additional shares for every one now held. The stock has been paying a regular 12 per cent dividend and was quoted today at $650 per share.

WATER UP TEN PER CENT.

Increase in Rate Authorized by Mayor Effective on July 1

An increase in all water rates of 10 per cent, effective July 1, was authorized by Mayor Peters today, based upon recommendations by the committee on new sources of revenue.

Boston consumers will have to contribute $125,000 more this year for water and $300,000 in the next two years because of the increase. The new rates will not affect those who pay on an annual basis until next year.

The new sources of revenue committee, of which ex-Mayor Nathan Matthews is chairman, also recommends a charge of $10 per year for special fire pipes to produce an additional revenue of $17,000, and an increase of $15 over present charges of $20 and $25 for installation of five-eighths and three-fourths-inch service pipes connecting buildings with water mains, to add $13,000 more to revenue.

The committee states that the annual average balance of receipts over expenditures is $204,000 and the increase in rates is therefore necessary to avoid a deficit which would have to be met from taxes. The introduction of modern methods of detecting leaks and waste is recommended.

At the public works department it was stated that the annual rates for a three-flat house at present average $22.50 and the meter rates from $10 to $20.

City department are to be charged for the water used by them to reduce waste and consumption of water, and lower the city's share of the metropolitan assessment.

POLICE SHOOT FLEEING MAN

A man said to be "Micky" McDonald was shot in the side by police officers of Station 9, Roxbury, today.

According to another version, the men came out of an eating place near Washington and Ziegler streets, and was about to get into the machine when the police shot him. He was taken to the City Hospital.

VOTES TO KEEP OUT NEW YORK MEMBERS

Assembly Committee, 7 to 6, Favors Ousting and Disfranchising Socialists

By International News Service.

Albany, N. Y., March 30.—Outlawing of the Socialist party from the polls in New York State and ousting of the five suspended Socialist members was recommended to the assembly today in the majority report of the judiciary committee.

The report, signed by seven of the thirteen members of the committee, including chairman Louis M. Martin of Oneida, was based mainly on the conclusion that both the party and its members had been disloyal to the government during the war.

Five members of the committee signed individual minority reports calling for the reseating of all five suspended members based principally on the ground that the assembly possesses no constitutional right to suspend its members. The five members signing the minority reports were Assemblymen Pellett and Sitt of New York and Blodgett of Schenectady, Republicans; Evans and Block of New York, Democrats.

Assemblyman Lown of Yates handed up an individual report recommending ousting of Assemblymen Solomon Classens and Waldman and reseating of Assemblymen Orr and Dewitt.

After claiming the Assembly has every constitutional right to exclude and expel members and that the fight is fundamental, inherent and exclu-manufacturer who headed the committee, said to the Governor that a poll was taken among the employes of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation at Quincy and that of the 7,100 who voted, 6,000 were for daylight saving.

PLEAD WITH GOVERNOR TO SUPPORT THE DAYLIGHT SAVING BILL

INDUSTRIAL LEADERS URGE PASSAGE OF MEASURE

Edward G. Stone, president of the Massachusetts Chamber of Commerce, L. M. Lamb of the Greenfield Tap and Die Company, W. M. Goodall, president of the Lowell Chamber of Commerce, C. V. Derrick, representing the American Bosch Magneto Company and other Springfield industries, and Edward F. Wentworth, chairman of the Daylight Saving Committee of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, were other members of the delegation.

Indications were said to be favorable to the passage of the bill, despite underground opposition from several quarters. The tremendous vote given daylight saving in the House, 181 to 23, was not without its effect.

Scores of telegrams and letters were received by Governor Coolidge today from advocates of the measure, urging him to throw all the weight of his office to the support of daylight saving. Similar telegrams were being received by Senators suspected of wavering in their stand.

Alexander Holmes of the State Tax Commissioner's department, who is a practical farmer as well as being regarded as an astute politician, said after a visit to the Governor's office that he was willing to be quoted as saying that from practical experience he was convinced that daylight saving in many instances was of material advantage to the farmer. This statement suggests the thought that the farmers are not "unanimous" on the subject and they are the only group which opposes it.

IS SAVER OF HEALTH.

The industrial organizations told the Governor that they adopted the fairest method of ascertaining the opinion of the men and women who work in mill and factory. The workers, they said, were not asked to sign petitions for daylight saving but were given blank ballots on which to vote for or against daylight saving.

A poll of the physicians and hospitals showed the vast majority in favor of it as a health measure. Of the 2,176 physicians who were asked their opinion on daylight saving, 1,917 voted for it. Ninety-three out of 108 hospitals favored it. The American Medical Association and the Massachusetts Tuberculosis League voted for it.

The Boston Chamber of Commerce today stated that 242 Massachusetts industries, with 80,000 employes, gave the opinion that it will aid the health of the industrial workers. It was said that 1,511 Massachusetts physicians and 320 industries with more than 100,000 employes, expressed the opinion that daylight saving will provide healthful recreation and that 1,216 physicians and 180 industries, with 40,000 employes, declared that it means increased efficiency in industry.

43,000 LESS ACCIDENTS.

Fourteen Massachusetts city governments, 137 commercial, labor, civic and social welfare organizations with more than 50,000 members, 565 industries with 150,000 employes, 50,000 industrial workers who have signed petitions, 30,738 industrial workers who voted for it in polls and 13,000 others who voluntarily signed petitions were among the substantial groups which have been recorded in favor of daylight saving.

The Boston Chamber of Commerce said that it has secured the expression of approval from 750,000 people in this State.

The bill went through the House by a vote of 181 to 23.

U. S. OBJECTS TO ARREST HERE

Get Habeas Corpus Writs to Free Mailmen Taken in by Police

Conflict between Boston's new police force and the U. S. government has developed in the taking out by Federal authorities of a writ of habeas corpus for five postal auto truck drivers and one postoffice contractor who were arrested for alleged violation of city ordinances and traffic laws.

The six men appeared before Judge Bennett, who continued their cases at the request of government officials, but intimated that he would find them guilty.

L. J. Feeny, one of the drivers, is charged with blocking the traffic on Nashua street. Arthur Nevulius is charged with allowing a vehicle to stand without stopping the motor, emitting unnecessary smoke, stopping at the left side of the street, and stopping within ten feet of a hydrant. The three other drivers, Joseph C. Haley, Francis Kerr and Charles Warnock, were charged with similar offenses. Anthony Macile, a postoffice contractor, is alleged to have piled sacks of mail on the sidewalk, obstructing traffic.

The Federal authorities contend that the arrested men were engaged in the work of dispatching the United States mails, that the congestion resulting in Nashua street was the cause of the alleged violations, and that the cases come under the jurisdiction of Federal courts and should be transferred to them.

WOULD OUTLAW SOCIALISTS

N. Y. Assembly Committee Votes 7 to 6 Against Ousted Members

The Socialist party is charged with having obstructed every war effort of the Federal government, with endeavoring to prevent enlistment in the navy and army, with obstructing the draft laws and the sale of Liberty Bonds and with trying to destroy the morale of the people by ghastly pictures of the horrors and consequences of war and with unscrupulous misrepresentations of our participation in the war.

The report declares there is only one inference to be taken from the position of the Socialists of the country in obstructing enactment of all military and naval appropriations and war activities: "They would render the country and the government helpless against all enemies so that it may be helpless against them, the enemies of established order."

The majority report declares every charge made against the five individual Socialist Assemblymen has been established; that because of their affiliation with the party which it is declared has been proven to advocate the overthrow of the government they are disqualified to occupy their seats and that because of this disqualification they were incapable of taking the State oath of office. On this point the report says that the promise of the Socialists not to vote for any war appropriations rendered their oath void.

Assemblyman Evans' chief opposition to agreeing with the majority report was summed up when he said:

"The Legislature under constitutional provision has no legal right to demand loyalty of its members nor has it any legal right to impose any test of loyalty."

CONVICT BOYS OF 17 OF WOBURN ROBBERY

GERMANS READY TO DEFY FRANCE

Troops Mobilized to Enter Ruhr Neutral Zone, Gessler Declares

By International News Service.

Berlin, March 30 (Wireless to New York).—Germany is determined to invade the Ruhr neutral zone, despite French protests, according to a statement made today by Minister of Defence Gessler.

"Up to the last minute we have striven to bring about a peaceful understanding with the French," declared the Minister of Defence. "No German government would ever agree to the French claim to occupy Frankfort, Darmstadt and other towns for the consideration that Germany be allowed to restore order in her own country.

"Owing to the severe riots and threatened famine the government was forced to take energetic measures. The army is in readiness to move into the neutral zone. It awaits only an agreement at Paris on orders from the ministry of defence."

Workers at Essen and Elberfeld were reported today discussing the threat of a general strike unless the government gives three days of grace for carrying out the terms of the ultimatum. The Dusseldorf "Soviet" is said to have issued a demobilization order.

There are indications that the workers in the Ruhr district are now split into two factions. An earlier dispatch from Berlin said that the government's ultimatum had been rejected. The conflicting advices indicate that a "moderate" faction has developed which is opposing the aims of the extremists or Reds.

'Juniper Point,' New Summer White House, Where Mrs. Wilson Soon Will Reign

A Boston American photographer was rushed to "Juniper Point," the Crane estate on Buzzard's Bay, with the first news that it had been selected as the Summer residence of the Chief Executive. The Crane estate, as his photographs show, is a restful retreat of rare beauty. At the left is seen the rustic bridge over the pond, with its Summer house. The pond is in a state of flood. In the centre is Albert C. Swain, superintendent of the estate, who, with others, has been sworn in as a special officer to guard the property, pending the arrival of the President with his official retinue. On the right is a view of the commodious residence itself, which possesses many features calculated completely to win the housekeeper's heart of the First Lady of the Land.

POST SPECIAL GUARD OVER THE SUMMER WHITE HOUSE

Woods Hole, March 30.—Three special police officers were sworn in at the town hall in Falmouth today by the selectmen and were stationed on the Crane estate on Juniper Point, where President Wilson and his household will spend the Summer months.

The special policemen, Albert C. Swain, Jr., superintendent of the Crane estate; George Robinson and Horace Jones, Jr., immediately started guarding the road leading up to the house, the only means of entering the estate, either on foot or by automobile.

Their appointment was made imperative after a long distance conversation over the 'phone with Mrs. Crane last night, when it was definitely learned that unless present plans miscarry, the White House next Summer will be on the shores of Vineyard Sound.

The officers will keep off the curious and the cranks who usually flock to view the place where the President summers. Nobody will be allowed on the grounds or in the house except on special permission or on orders from Washington.

GRANTED FULL POWERS.

All three of the special officers are employed on the Crane estate and have been granted the powers of constables and deputy sheriffs.

The place will be under constant guard from now on and lights all over the estate will be kept lighted all night.

These special officers will perform their guard duty until the actual arrival of the President and his party when they probably will be relieved by the secret service men who travel everywhere the President goes.

Their oath of office was administered by Chairman Underwood of the Falmouth Board of Selectmen in the presence of the two other members of the board, Harry B. Albro and John F. Donaldson, and the veteran town clerk and treasurer, William R. Hewins. The latter is a man over eighty and for thirty-two years consecutively has held his present position.

The chief problem of the selectmen, according to Chairman Underwood, outside of the responsibility of the President's welfare, is housing. Already all reservations have been made for the entire Summer season, both in the fashionable hotels in Woods Hole and Falmouth and in all the Summer cottages.

These places all were booked solid before it was even hinted that the President was considering visiting Woods Hole this Summer.

Woods Hole has but two hotels, the Breakwater and the Avery, and they are both Summer hostelries.

When "the First Lady of the Land" comes to take possession of her Summer White House at Juniper Point she will find it adapted in many ways to her comfort and pleasure. Special preparations are being made to welcome Mrs. Wilson into a home which combines charm and convenience and which will give her the seclusion and privacy which she desires.

The stately bed chamber which will be occupied by Mrs. Wilson faces the sea and a broad window with cosy seat provides outlook across the water. The room has light, summery furniture, gay chintz hangings and many well-shaded lamps and candles. The bath is in white enamel with an elaborately tiled floor and shining glass fixtures.

HER PRIVATE PARLOR.

Mrs. Wilson's withdrawing room is a delightful private parlor on the first floor, furnished with deep, comfortable armchairs, with sunny windows for plants and flowers. The secluded porch on the breezy side of the island provides a charming spot for afternoon tea and informal visits.

Mrs. Wilson's fame as an efficient household manager has caused many less busy women to wonder. The convenient arrangement and housekeeping facilities of the Summer mansion are well adapted to simple and easy management. There is a large kitchen entirely white, with enamel fixtures and roomy pantries and storerooms.

Mrs. Wilson's interest in personally supervising the preserving and canning of the White House garden products is well known and for this "Juniper Point" provides every means.

There is a special preserving room, cool and dark, with an electric stove and rows of deep shelves stocked with jars.

The servants rooms are as attractive as the rest of the house. There is a private dining-room furnished in wicker and chints, a private reception room, and comfortable chamber accommodations for five people.

SIMPLE, BUT RESTFUL.

Many little domestic conveniences which facilitate the difficult management of a home are included for Mrs. Wilson's comfort. There are capacious linen closets, two sewing machines, chests of drawers for the official silverware, and enough closets and shelved cupboards to satisfy any house manager. In all these there is no sense of elaborateness of "fussiness," simplicity and comfort and charm make the home restful and delightful.

Mrs. Wilson is a lover of flowers and the large greenhouse and fascinating gardens at "Juniper Point" will provide her with every variety of blossoms. It has always been her pleasure to arrange the flowers at the White House to see that each room is effectively supplied.

The greenhouse contains many beautiful plants and some exotic and rare species of roses and orchids. The grounds are arranged to give the effect of natural and tree growth, but there are tiny formal gardens here and there, and rustic Summer houses shaded with vines.

One spot in particular that will be Mrs. Wilson's domain is a miniature Japanese teahouse set well back among the trees and an ideal spot for afternoon tea or a quiet hour alone.

MRS. SWAIN PLEASED.

Mrs. Albert C. Swain, Jr., wife of the caretaker, who has lived on the grounds for nineteen years in the service of Charles R. Crane, owner of Juniper Point, expressed her delight and enthusiasm at the prospects of Mrs. Wilson's visit. It will be delightful to have Mrs. Wilson here, Mrs. Swain said:

"The house is beautiful and I am sure it will be an honor to have the President's wife as its mistress. It is a house that any lady would like, because it is so simply arranged and so attractive. It was designed and planned by a woman, and that is why there are so many feminine touches which a man might forget.

"If Mrs. Wilson is tired after her strenuous Winter I am sure she will find the home restful. It is secluded and yet there is the magnificent view of the water on all three sides of the house and no feeling of being shut in. I am sure it would be a great honor for all of us to have Mrs. Wilson here."

White House Attache Inspects Mansion

Washington, D. C., March 30.—Edward W. Smithers of the White House staff is today at Woods Hole, Mass., inspecting the possibilities of that place as a Summer White House, it was announced today.

If sufficient accommodations can be procured for the White House staff, the President will close the lease for the residence of Charles R. Crane at Woods Hole.

The President's departure for Woods Hole is contingent upon the adjournment of Congress, which is expected June 1.

DENY PETITION IN SCIENCE CASE

Mrs. Hulin Cannot Intervene in Suits of Trustees and Dittemore

Judge DeCourcy in the Supreme Court today denied the petition of Mrs. Emilie B. Hulin of Brookline, a First Member of the Christian Science Church, for leave to intervene in the suits of the trustees of the Christian Science Publishing Society and John V. Dittemore against the directors of the Christian Science Church.

As Judge DeCourcy gave no reasons for his decision, it is understood that the next move will be a motion to confirm the report of Judge Frederic Dodge, who found that the directors had no right to attempt to control the affairs of the publishing society. He also found that they had no right to remove Mr. Dittemore from the board.

Judge Dodge, who heard the case as master, further found that the Christian Science Church was never incorporated under the laws of Massachusetts and has been and is now merely a voluntary religious association.

In their suit the trustees asked that the directors be enjoined from interfering with the business of the publishing society. Mr. Dittemore, in his suit, asked that the court order the directors to recognize him as a member of the board, from which he claimed he was illegally removed.

Horace Won't Get 'Het Up' Over Wilson

Woods Hole, March 30.—Horace Howes won't look out the window the day President Wilson arrives here. Horace won't have to be "kept off the grounds by no private detectives." Horace "won't solicit no business with this Wilson, though God knows trade is bad enough" with what Horace's help "demanding bank presidents' wages" and "doin' nothin' for it."

And it's all the fault of Grover Cleveland and Son-in-Law McAdoo. And Horace is the President's next door neighbor.

Horace is seventy-one and has been in the meat and grocery business just around the corner from Juniper Point for "thurty-five years." He hates a Southerner with all his heart, due to a fracas which ranged in and around a certain Mason and Dixon line a few seasons ago. The only thing Horace dislikes more is a Democrat wherever his habitat, with the pinnacle of his animosity is a Democratic President.

Horace is well known here. His store measures seventeen by twenty feet with a story in the centre of it and Horace can hit this stove with a stream of battle axe scrap from any angle he hasn't missed in thirty-five years which is a record for the entire cape and he keeps the stove lit in Summer that competitors may realize what amateurs they are.

"I shan't get all het up over Wilson," said Horace. "I has voted the Republican ticket all my life. All my life but once." Here he looked toward the ceiling, his jaws moved, and the stove went "s-s-s-wish." "Grover Cleveland came down here once and stayed at Naushon Island. He traded with me some, seemed a fine figure of a man, and I went to work and voted for him. I ain't never voted nothing but the straight Republican ticket since."

The stove steamed with the torrent that reached it from the lips of the indignant Cape Cod stand-patter.

"And there's that feller McAdoo. He stayed one Summer down here in Mattapoisett, and another over to Nantucket. Talk about the guardians of the treasury. I'll tell you where the nation's expenses the way he watched his grocer's bills he would have squared the national debt. If you don't believe me ask them over to Mattapoisett or Tucket.

"No, I shan't look out that winder there the day Wilson arrives, and though I'll take his money and sell him what he wants he needn't think that I'll solicit any business from him." And the stove added its assurance emphasis to Horace's defiance.

$50,000 FIRE AT WILLIAMS

D. K. E. Fraternity House Burns—Students Routed in Pajamas

North Adams, March 30.—Scores of Williams College students were driven to the campus in pajamas early today by a fire that destroyed the Delta Kappa Epsilon Fraternity house on the college grounds in Williamstown. Several were overcome by smoke.

The building was three stories high and one of the prettiest in the college group. The damage was in excess of $50,000.

Town and college fire departments were called out. Their work was made difficult by high winds.

A $3,000 war memorial tablet on the second floor was destroyed, and other memorials and trophies of sentimental as well as intrinsic value were lost.

BACK BAY RESIDENTS GIVEN FIRE SCARE

Back Bay residents in the vicinity of Newbury street were given a scare when a fire started in the building at No. 255, occupied as a garage by John H. McAlpin & Co. The damage, estimated at $500, was confined mostly to automobiles in the garage.

Woburn Police, Minus Weapons, in Danger

Mayor Golden of Woburn issued instructions today to members of the police force to procure all necessary equipment. He discovered Patrolman John Devany, a veteran of the 26th Division and a special policeman, on duty without a revolver, handcuffs or a key to the signal boxes. All he had was a night stick.

"It is a fine state of affairs that police officers go out on duty, but may jeopardize their very lives and have no means of protecting themselves," said the Mayor. "There is plenty of money in the treasury to procure the necessary equipment. The situation will be corrected at once and will not be allowed to happen again."

SIMS IS WRONG, SAYS MAYO

Navy in 1917 Better Prepared Than Ever Before, Admiral Declares

By International News Service.

Washington, March 30.—The active fleet on the first of April, 1917, "was in the best state of preparedness that it had ever been in," Rear Admiral Henry T. Mayo of the General Board of the Navy, said today.

Appearing before a Senate investigating committee, Mayo took issue with Admiral Sims on the latter's charge that "We entered the war unprepared."

"The general question of preparedness should be considered for several years before we entered the war," Mayo said.

He pointed out that from 1913 to 1915 the Mexican and Central American conditions made demands on our ships which made any general training and repair program impracticable.

From 1915 up to our entry into the war, Admiral Mayo showed that the United States navy made every effort to keep fit. Admiral Mayo assumed the positio nof second in command of the Atlantic flee tin 1915.

Admiral Mayo said there was a general feeling that training should be intensified and no effect was spared to get the ships ready for war.

As a result of these efforts, he said, "the improvement in general efficiency was very gratifying."

Information as to the lessons of the war was difficult for our navy to get in 1915, Mayo said, but target practice and battle manoevres were carried on.

In 1916, a very large building program and additional personnel was authorized," Mayo said. He pointed out that war overtook us before these increases became affective.

GLENN COLLINS TO BE DEPORTED

Man of Many Wives Must Face Trial Overseas for Alleged Theft

Bostonians acquainted with Charles Glenn Collins, former officer in the British army, and at one time husband of the beautiful Natalie Schenck, were interested to learn today that he had lost his fight in the Supreme Court to prevent deportation.

Collins, who made a gallant record fighting at Gallipoli, was arrested in New Orleans two years ago at the request of British authorities, on the charge of having obtained valuable jewels in Bombay, India, by fraud. He escaped last September, to be recaptured aboard an outbound vessel by American government agents.

WORKED IN SOUTH BOSTON.

Collins, formerly of the Queen's Own Cameron Highlanders, married Miss Schenck at Monterey, Cal., in 1904, after an ardent courtship at Newport, but she divorced him in 1907. For a time Collins worked as a laborer in the Grueby Faience pottery in South Boston, but later paid court to Miss Amelia Wheeler, daughter of the sewing machine capitalist. Despite parental objections, Collins married her, but the marriage was annulled.

Collins, who had left the British army, was readmitted after the outbreak of the World War, and became a lieutenant-colonel of the noted Howard Battalion of Royal British Marines. He served with distinction through the Gallipoli campaign and became intimate with a fellow officer, Captain Munts.

ACCUSED OF THEFT.

According to the British authorities they returned to England, and a short time later Munts secured a divorce in which Collins was named. The latter resigned his commission and left London at about the same time as did Mrs. Munts.

They went to India and there joined Mrs. Olga Olsen, wife of Captain Fritz Olsen, resident of the Norway Pacific Steamship Company. In India Collins was said to have assumed his rank and uniform, and it was at this time he was accused of the alleged theft of a necklace valued at $8,500. Later he returned to this country and married Mrs. Munts.

BUYING "SPREE" IS REPORTED DIMINISHING

Washington, March 30.—Gradual recession from the peaks in high price levels on all commodities is definitely noted in Reserve Bank agents' reports to the Federal Reserve Board.

No serious business curtailment is indicated by these reports, but there is clearly indicated a feeling of extreme caution among business men and somewhat of a contraction in the great volume of trading. A pessimistic view is not to be taken from these reports, officials said.

The spending "spree" of the public, officials said, is showing definite signs of diminishing. Lack of the same degree of extravagance is noted in many lines of trade, in comparisons with reports thirty days ago.

The public's buying power, while still strongis is not being extended to its former limits. Limitation in purchases is observed in many lines of trade. Speculation in speculation in commodities also is noted by officials, which explains to some extent the lowering tendency in the prices of some commodities.

CHANGE IN EUROPE'S CONDITION FAR OFF

Washington, March 30.—Genuine improvement in Europe's economic situation is a very long way off, despite proposals put forward in Great Britain, France and Italy to correct bad bank practices, it was declared at the Treasury today. High officials stated that the most disquieting factor abroad is the continued steady increase in prices, indicating growth in inflation.

Train Covers 225 Miles in 184 Minutes

Windsor, Ont., March 30.—What is believed to be the fastest run ever made on an American railroad was registered when a special train, composed of an engine and two cars, covered the 225 miles between Windsor and Buffalo, N. Y., in 184 minutes. The time for the 103 miles from Windsor to St. Thomas was 89 minutes, which beats all previous records, while the 117 miles between St. Thomas and Buffalo was covered in 95 minutes. The trip was made over the New York Central, Canadian division.

STRIKE FORCES OUT 10,000

Chicago Stock Yards Face Closing Because of the Handlers' Quitting

By International News Service.

Chicago, March 30.—Prospects of a complete shutdown of Chicago's stock yards, thus throwing 50,000 persons out of employment and seriously affecting the meat supply of Chicago and other Middle Western cities, became a near certainty today following the placing into effect of a freight embargo at the yards, resulting from the strike of live stock handlers.

Yards officials announced that 10,000 employes already are out of work. Although hundreds of carloads of live stock are held up on the city's outskirts, or on railroad sidings between Chicago and Omaha, the receipts at the yards today are almost negligible as compared with the usual amount. Because of the strike the stock could not be handled if it were brought to the yards.

"If the strike continues there will be nothing left for us to do but to shut down," said an official of Armour & Company. "Every day in the yards may have to close before the end of the week."

STATE WINS 99 YEAR LAW SUIT

Awarded $14,000 of Funds Seized From Bostonians by Chileans

By a decision today of Federal Judge George W. Anderson, Suffolk County, through Public Administrator Lewis G. Farmer, will benefit to the amount of about $14,000, following 99 years of litigation, international disputes and royal arbitration, as a result of the seizure in 1821 of $70,400 by Chilean soldiers the property of old Boston families and citizens of the United States.

In his finding Judge Anderson says: "I think this claim of Lewis G. Farmer's must prevail. On this record it must be held that Farmer is legally and duly appointed administer of the estate of Paqua Moqua and Furber. Clearly on the agreed facts must be held that the fund in question belongs to Paqua Moqua and Furber. If, in 1864, when Mr. Gardiner first received money in Boston, he had on evidence of death satisfactory to the Probate Court of the County of Suffolk, caused an administer for the estate of Paqua Moqua and Furber to have been appointed no one would have questioned the jurisdiction of the court to make such an appointment. The fact that fifty years have elapsed makes no difference as to the rule of law applicable. Farmer is the legal representative of the persons who are agreed to be the rightful owners of the fund."

PROBE OF RENTS IS BEGUN

Mayor's Committee Takes Up Work to Aid the Tenants' League

Necessaries of Life and Joint Committee on Judiciary confer on the problem before submitting his bill to the Legislature.

Mr. Hays spoke in support of his order.

MR. HAYS TO SPEAK.

Tomorrow night Mr. Hays will address the big mass meeting to be held in Revere under the auspices of Mayor Walsworth and the Revere Tenants' League, which has endorsed and enrolled in a body in the Boston American Tenants' League. A big torchlight procession, preceded by a band, will take place before the meeting, which will be held at the Walnut Street Schoolhouse.

Friday night comes the big mass meeting at Lawrence City Hall, where a branch of the league will be formed under the leadership of Mayor William P. White.

Mayor Peters' committee on rent and housing has begun operations, and has invited the league to turn over to it for action those cases in the city of Boston of which it has received complaint.

In its efforts to co-operate with the Mayor's committee, the Boston American Tenants' League requests all tenants having complaints to make to observe the following rules:

COMPLAINTS IN WRITING.

They should be in writing and contain the name of the landlord, the dates and amounts of increases in rent, the number and names of all tenants in the building, a statement of the condition of the property, and such supplementary facts as may appear essential.

Such complaints should be sent by mail to the secretary of the Mayor's Committee on Rents, No. 1 Beacon street, Boston.

Miss Sybil H. Holmes, president of the Massachusetts Association of Women Lawyers, will place the Martin Hays Bill before her club at their next meeting, the last Tuesday in April.

"I am no expert on the Hays Bill," said Miss Holmes, "but I think the American is doing good work in attempting to help rent conditions, a work which should be assisted. For something should be done to protect tenants. I am in sympathy with a movement which will do this."

MRS. FAELTEN FOR RENT BILL.

Mrs. Marie Dewing Faelten, president of the Professional Women's Club, is emphatic in her endorsement of the Martin Hays rent bill:

"I am most glad to endorse the Martin Hays bill," said Mrs. Faelten. "I consider that such a bill provides a genuine remedy for a genuine distress here in Boston. I think we all are familiar with the many hardships caused in our city by landlords who exact much more rent than the increase in prices warrant. A week from Tuesday the board of the Professional Women's Club meets and I will put the bill before them for action."

Mrs. Walter E. Kendall, president of the South End Woman's Club, said: "I have heard many comments and complaints in regard to the rent situation and I believe that in many cases rents about the city are exorbitant. Ten per cent. used to be considered a very fair profit for a landlord. I wonder if it is no longer considered so. I will put the bill before my club at its next meeting for consideration."

Lynn Forms Branch of Tenants' League

A rigorous campaign against rent profiteering in Lynn was launched with the formation of a Lynn branch of the Boston American Tenants' League.

The Lynn branch was created at a meeting in Lasters' Hall, Andrew street, attended by more than 200 men and women, all of whom enrolled as members and took pledges to do all in their power to encourage the principles of the league.

Evidence of startling increases in rent on workingmen's homes in Lynn during the past two years was submitted. The increases, it appears, have in some cases been as high as 200 per cent. Almost everyone attending the meeting told of unfair rent boosts of more than 50 per cent.

The league members passed a resolution praising the Boston American for its stand against gouging landlords and favoring the passage of the Hays anti-profiteering bill.

A plan of action to spread the purposes of the Tenants' League to every wage-earner in the city was mapped out and will begin Sunday, when speakers will appear at the meetings of the Lynn Chamber of Labor and the Lynn Central Labor Union and lay before the labor men the proposals of the new organization.

Rev. G. R. Stair to Speak

Rev. George R. Stair will speak on "Just Pure Grit" at the Y. M. C. A., No. 615 Huntington avenue, tomorrow at 4:30 p. m.

Muskrat on Three Legs Fights Policeman

Patrolman J. Henry Pedrick had a ten-minute battle with a three-legged muskrat, weighing five pounds, on Walker road, Swampscott, early today.

The muskrat crossed the path of Officer Pedrick who immediately gave battle. The animal sprang at the officer who used his club. But full of fight, the muskrat came back at him, received another blow from the club and then retraced its steps toward Great road.

An ex-soldier hurled a rock. He caught the muskrat behind the ear. The muskrat is on exhibition at the Swampscott police station.

"Hes a big 'un, isn't he," remarked Pedrick.

"Not half as big as rats we killed in the trenches," said the ex-soldier.

HOTEL DANCE CASE ON TRIAL

Westminster Proprietor Answers Charge of Conducting Party Without License

Trial of a test case with the Hotel Westminster as defendant, in an effort to determine if hotels must obtain dance hall licenses in order to permit public dancing, began in the municipal court today.

The Westminster, with Emile Coulon, proprietor, was technically charged with violation of a statute which provides that a license must be procured for public dancing where admission is charged.

The police maintain that the so-called "cover charge" on a hotel bill is in reality an admission fee to a public dance and therefore comes under the law.

Practically all the hotel men of Boston were interested in the case, as a conviction will mean that no smoking can be permitted in dancing rooms. Furthermore, a police officer must be on duty at every dance, while firemen will have access at any time, and the dancing rooms will be under the jurisdiction of the City Licensing Board.

The hotel men claim that they originally applied for licenses, but were assured that they were not necessary. Then came police attendances at supper dances, which resulted in an agreement, whereby a test case was brought.

When the case opened today before Judge Murray, Attorney Thomas W. Proctor was on hand representing the police, while Charles H. Innis appeared for the hotel. A consultation was held at the bench, later joined by Major Thomas Walsh for the Copley-Plaza, at which it was decided that a specific instance must be selected for trial.

HEAR LAWSONS IN SECRET

Public and Press Barred as Custody of Children Is Decided

For the first time in many years the public and press were excluded from a Suffolk County court hearing today when the question of the custody of two of the four children of Lieutenant and Mrs. Arnold Lawson was heard before a master.

The children are the grandchildren of Thomas W. Lawson, the financier, or, as he calls himself, the "farmer and author." One of the twin boys is named for his grandfather, and the other for his father. The parents are satisfied that Vera and Jean, the twin sisters, remain at boarding school.

This question, together with alimony, preliminary to the trial of the Lawson divorce suit, was heard by Frederick L. Norton, sitting as master, behind closed doors on orders of Judge Frederick Lawton.

UNUSUAL PROCEDURE.

Judge Lawton admitted that the procedure was unusual, but declared that it was taken at the request of both parties, and that he considered the matter "none of the publics concern."

Lieutenant Lawson, who charges infidelity, and named Leonard Lawrence as corespondent, was on hand at the opening of the hearing in the Seventh Session of the Superior Court. Mrs. Lawson also was present with a number of witnesses, including private detectives.

Lawson was represented by Attorney Edward Carr, and his wife by Elbridge R. Anderson. Mrs. Lawson brought a counter suit charging desertion.

The first witness called before Referee Norton was Mrs. William Burry, who operates boarding houses at Nos. 188 and 125 Commonwealth avenue. Mrs. Lawson is still a lodger at one of these houses, where Leonard Lawrence, named by young Mr. Lawson as corespondent, lived.

MRS. LAWRENCE ATTENDS.

Another early witness was Mabel C. Curtin, wife of Senator John Curtin. She is a close friend of Mrs. Lawson.

Mrs. Leo Lawrence, blonde and petite, wife of the corespondent, was a conspicuous figure in court. She lives at No. 41 Commonwealth avenue.

Mrs. Lawrence sat in the front row with her counsel. While the bar enclosure was Mrs. Lawson, sitting directly back of her counsel, Attorney Anderson.

Mrs. G. L. Oakes also was on hand, Mrs. Lisa James, Miss Elizabeth Kane, Mr. and Mrs. Ellery Clarke and Pete Moseby, negro butler, also were in the courtroom.

Ma's Going to Keep Up With Children

Pittsburgh, March 30.—Let her children pass her in mental equipment? Not Mrs. J. W. Send. She has just graduated with highest honors from the Fifth Avenue Night High School. Her oldest son is now in high school and the other three in grammar school. She now reads and writes English, French and German. "If my children go to college I'll go to college, too," said Mrs. Send. "I mean to keep up with them intellectually."

30 MILLION LOSS BY TORNADO

Latest Toll Shows 161 Dead and Nearly 2,000 Injured

Chicago, March 30.—Residents of the tornado-stricken areas in eight Central West and Southern States prepared today to take inventory of their losses, rebuild their homes and bury their dead.

A recapitulation of the storm king's life toll today shows that 161 persons were killed and nearly 2,000 injured. The newest death list, by States, is as follows:

Illinois (including Chicago district) 50, Indiana 26, Ohio 26, Georgia 38, Alabama 17, Michigan 12, Missouri 1, Wisconsin 1. Total 161.

It is estimated that the property loss caused by the tornadoes will be nearly $250,000,000, with about $6,000,000 of that amount in Illinois.

The scenes in the wrecked area were almost as pathetic today as during the moments immediately following the ripping, tearing progress of the storms through the affected districts.

Many persons continued to linger near the tangled, splintered wrecks of what once were their homes—all they had in the world—refusing to go to temporary shelters provided for them.

Others gathered in morgues and wept beside their dead. Relief measures were practically completed in most districts. Homes not affected by the storm were thrown open to them everywhere and the Red Cross and other relief agencies provided plenty of food. Plans were made to assist in the rebuilding of homes.

SEES MOTHER IN ATTEMPT TO DIE

Lillian Fuller, Four, Looks on as Woman Inhales Gas Through Tube

How four-year-old Lillian Fuller looked on in baby wonder while her mother kissed her and then took a gas tube into her mouth, and how the baby talked childish prattle to her mother even after the latter had become unconscious, was told today by the child to a representative of the American at the Fuller home, No. 528 Treisont street.

The little girl, who is very pretty and unusually bright for her age, did not realize the tragic significance of what she had witnessed.

Mrs. Fuller's intention to kill herself was frustrated by a neighbor, Mrs. Helen Jacobson, who gained entrance to the room where mother and baby were. Mrs. Fuller was taken to the City Hospital, where later in the day it was stated that she was practically out of danger.

The attempt at suicide took place in the absence of the husband, who had gone to call a doctor. Mrs. Fuller is a sufferer from a disabled leg, which of late has prevented her from working to earn toward the family's support. She was in great pain Monday, according to Mr. Fuller, but protested when he wished to call a doctor, saying they could not afford it. Mr. Fuller, however, insisted, and left the house to summon medical aid. On his return he saw the ambulance bearing his wife unconscious form just leaving their home.

Fuller followed the ambulance and remained with his wife until she was revived. He is an elevator operator in the Old South Building.

JOHNSON URGES RETURN TO IDEALS OF AMERICANISM

New York, March 30.—United States Senator Hiram W. Johnson was greeted by cheering thousands when he opened his Greater New York presidential campaign at Cooper Union.

Standing upon the spot on which Abraham Lincoln stood sixty years ago, the California Senator enthused his hearers by an old-fashioned 100 per cent. American appeal for free speech, and the right of peaceable assembly.

The Senator provoked most applause when he assailed the Wilson League of Nations covenant, and pointed out what abhorrent results would follow its application to Russia and other countries where the people are still fighting for the right of self-government.

Senator Johnson reiterated that he recognizes but one master—the people of the United States of America. He urged that the highest duty of American citizenship is service to the Republic.

When the Senator broke into a plea for "Back to the Constitution" he said:

"And I do power, the first thing which I should do in this great government of ours would be to turn it back to its pristine principles, to the old constitution of our Fathers.

"During the war, under its stress, we passed many laws—very many laws. I would have passed more if success in the war required it, even though I sometimes hesitated at the passing of many of those we did pass; but we passed them that we might be successful in warfare, and with the passage of those laws we centralized power in one administration; we centralized power in one man at Washington.

"We created under the very stern necessity of war a great autocracy in this country, in one man. I would remove it, remove that autocracy that thus under the stern necessity and the pressure of war was created, and I would take this nation back to the old American ideas and American ideals, decentralizing from the administration those great war powers which were accorded it for the purpose of success in war. This is first what we could do and what we ought to do.

"Behind every man today, every man except him who has an independent fortune, stalks the dread spectre of want, because of the high cost of living. I cannot cure it. You cannot cure it. I know, no panacea that is offered today that will suffice.

DREAD SPECTRE OF WANT.

"I do not know, however, that with the very sufficient power that is in the administration it is possible systematically and scientifically to begin at both ends of the great chain between the ultimate consumer and the original producer until we find out the weak links—find out somewhere between these two points something to remedy. And then the remedy can be applied.

"I do not know that with all the power that the administration has had in this regard it has failed and trifled there and it has done nothing at all.

"I do know there is another method where we may touch this great evil of ours, and that is that we need not subscribe to every mad adventure in Europe, adventures that every impartial power on earth may wish to attempt, but which are financed after all by American money. You foot the bill, and when you foot the bill you add just that much more to the burden that is yours.

"I do know that there has been a saturnalia of expense in the past four years in Washington. Some of it was justified by the war. I justify to frankness to you, some extravagance in time of war in the desire to do that which was essential for the winning of the war, but there has been an extravagance that passes human belief.

"We used to think in terms of thousands, and then of hundreds of thousands and then of millions, and then of hundreds of millions and now we think in terms of billions, in dealing with the money of this nation.

"This saturnalia of extravagance that has been rampant at Washington ought to cease. It can be made to cease and I trust within a very few months it will be required to cease.

CONDEMNS LARGE ARMY.

Senator Johnson condemned the Wilson-Baker-Mayo plan for a large standing army, asserting that Congress will limit the number of troops, and thus save hundreds of millions of dollars. Continuing, he said:

"I might say to you in the usual fashion of the campaign orator that the high cost of living is due, first to inflation, and secondly to lack of production, which may be very true, which I do not question at all. But like the campaign orator, after this statement, I might indulge, as he indulges, in telling you that we ought to lessen the inflation and we ought to increase the production. Both of which statements are true. And then, like him, I would cease and not tell you how we would do either one or the other.

"And I do not attempt to tell you how you will do either the one or the other, because no wise man has yet discovered how he will do either, and no while we recognize that they are contributing causes to the high cost of living. But I say that we within the next year to deflate the inflation which now exists and while we preach thrift and economy and greater production, we cannot be sure that those somewhat remedies will be so applied within a very brief period as to accomplish the desired result.

"In the meantime we can run the gamut of the scale and we can find just where there is profiteering in this land, and when we ascertain where the profiteering is, by running the scale scientifically from the initial production to the ultimate consumer, we will take the profiteer, as he ought to be taken, treat him as the traitor he is, and punish him as he ought to be punished, and stop perhaps something of the high cost of living.

Irish Bond Total Grows

Canvassers in the eastern and western parts of the State report unusual gains in the Irish bond certificate drive and figure that the quota of the million dollars assigned for collection in these sections will shortly be "over the top."

Boston's $500,000 share of the fund is nearly subscribed, and when the "mopping-up" process is completed in eight or ten wards yet to be heard from, a substantial increase over that amount will be recorded.

The launching of the drive in Plymouth County has met with gratifying success. House-to-house canvass is being made in cities and towns in that section. Scores of meetings will be held in these places within the next two weeks.

North Abington has been assigned a quota of $2,000; Rockland will strive to raise $5,000; Bridgewater pledges $2,500, and figures on counting $1,000.

Women will take a prominent part in the drive in this district. Members of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Ancient Order of Hibernians pledges full co-operation, and the county organization, at a meeting in North Abington, adopted similar resolutions of assistance.

BROCKTON EXCEEDS QUOTA.

Brockton, in Plymouth County, has already exceeded its quota of $25,000, and is steadily increasing the fund. Dermod Lynch is chairman of the drive and has charge of the special attractions features which have added zest to the campaign in that city. The total from Brockton, according to Mr. Lynch, may reach $40,000.

The Brockton ball, March 15, Boston, will officially close tomorrow night. Chairman Joseph L. Corcoran of the Ward 13 Committee announces that boxes, in the store of William F. Fitzgerald, No. 125 Bowdoin street. This ward has gone over the top by many hundreds of dollars and Chairman Corcoran, through the American, expresses thanks to all who worked and subscribed to make the drive successful.

WASHINGTON ORDERS GENERAL 'CLEAN-UP' OF PARKER HILL HOSPITAL

More and Better Food for Soldier-Patients One of First Improvements.

There is to be a general and an immediate housecleaning of the United States Public Health Service Hospital on Parker Hill. This fact is announced in special dispatches to the Boston American from Washington.

News to this effect comes from Surgeon-General Cummings to a representative of this newspaper. He reached the decision after receiving an oral report from Colonel William E. Terriberry of his department, who was sent here to make a special inspection of the institution and an investigation of the charges made against the management by the State Department of the American Legion, which were published in the Boston American and formed the basis of an editorial demanding the investigation.

The resignation of Captain Frank A. Davis, who has been the executive officer at the hospital since it was taken over by the Public Health Service, has been accepted by the Surgeon-General.

It was against his methods and manners that many of the complaints were made by present and former inmates, and by Sergeant George E. Wilson, State organizer for the legion, who conducted the inquiry for that organization.

MAY RELIEVE SPRAGUE.

It is not likely that the investigator for the Public Health Service will recommend a court-martial for Captain Davis, but it is believed that his report will indicate that the captain has not the temperament for dealing with former service men, who are suffering from the effects of wounds and sickness incurred during the war.

The separation of Captain Davis is not the only change in personnel that will take place. Both Parker Hill and the Marine Hospital at Chelsea are under the direction of Major Ezra K. Sprague. He divides his time between the two places.

It has been claimed that the job is too much for one man. In fact, this condition of divided supervision was strongly presented to Colonel Terriberry, and it is understood that he will make a positive recommendation that the major be relieved of the management of affairs at Parker Hill and devote all of his time and attention to the Chelsea hospital.

PATIENTS MISTREATED.

Former soldiers and sailors who are in need of medical or surgical care are entitled to receive it free of charge at the public health hospitals. Many of them are sent there through the offices of the Bureau of War Risk Insurance. There has been an average of about 300 patients at Parker Hill for several months, some of them operation cases, some of them gas cases, some of them tubercular cases, others suffering from ailments resulting from exposure and disease attacks during the war period, while still others were sent there for observation.

For some time there have been complaints from patients that they were not receiving proper care.

Some things happened which the boys considered neglect of their disabled buddies. Some of the boys seemed to think that the treatment of two or three of the very sick patients bordered on cruelty.

From the manner in which he conducted his inquiry it is quite apparent that Colonel Terriberry looks upon the treatment and care of patients, who are a part of the crop of war from a different angle than Captain Davis.

COLONEL CONDEMNS MENU.

It is reported that one of the first things he did was to study the daily menu card and condemn it on the ground that it was too monotonous and that its very lack of variety was enough to sicken the patients of it.

The Parker Hill Hospital daily ration has been costing but 71 cents a day per man. This is a very economical standard and accounts for the lack of fresh fruit, fresh eggs and milk. It is said that Colonel Terriberry considered this to be economy at the expense of the sufferers and ordered the daily ration amount raised 20 cents so that these necessary elements of subsistence for certain cases of sick men might be served them.

It had been charged that tubercular cases were put in the same rooms with cases of slight danger.

The defence of the officials at the hospital, it is said, has been a general denial of all the charges and a counter complaint that all of their troubles arose from the State department headquarters of the American Legion and the Boston American lending willing ears to the plaints of the patients.

This newspaper called for a thorough investigation in order that the atmosphere might be cleared of the charges that were floating about, and needed reforms instituted. Its editorial advised a thorough housecleaning and there is every indication that "conditions must be established that will be a positive assurance to the sick and disabled and their friends that the officials understand and appreciate their task, and that the hospital be fully equipped with appliances, talent and disposition to give the unfortunate victims of the war the very best of treatment and care."

This new era of better times and things for Parker Hill has begun.

HUNDREDS OF CASES IN MARLBORO EPIDEMIC

Marlboro, March 30.—An epidemic of a disease, which has been diagnosed as intestinal influenza, by City Physician O. G. Duhumel, is sweeping Marlboro. Hundreds of cases have been reported and Dr. Duhumel has had more than fifty cases himself. For some time it was thought that the sickness was due to the water supply, but analysis by the city physician proved that the water is pure.

Other Theatres

SOMERVILLE THEATRE—"The Other Wife," a drama of mystery and love, was produced by the capable Somerville Players at their Davis Square Theatre yesterday for the first time in Somerville. Only recently has it been possible to obtain the producing rights of this play, inasmuch as it was held for several years by a prominent stock company and used as the opening attraction of each season.

HOWARD ATHENAEUM—Plenty of bright, sparkling humor was presented at the Howard Athenaeum yesterday by the Jazz Babies Company, which is headed by that versatile comedian, Frank X. Silk. He was given a big welcome and his "Atta-Boy Horace" stunt caught the popular fancy. Florence Whiteford, George Carroll, Rose Vivienna, George Carroll, Don Clark and a chorus noted for its beauty are features.

ORPHEUM THEATRE—Patrons of Loew's Orpheum Theatre were afforded a rare treat at yesterday's performances in the appearance of the celebrated "Golden Troupe," which is composed of eight Russian singers, dancers and instrumentalists. It was indeed a worth while act, abounding in rare and exquisite beauties of both person and costume. It is some time since Bostonians have had an opportunity to witness a like display of the terpsichorean art.

WALDRON'S CASINO—Under the management of Barney Gerard, Joseph K. Watson and Will H. Cohan, those versatile comedians, are with the "Girls De Looks" at Waldron's Casino this week. Watson and Cohan appear as Sitzkin and Slotkin in Mr. Gerard's new divertisement. The whole show is embellished with gorgeous scenery and a layout of beautiful costumes.

COFFEE WEEK

March 29 to April 3

THIS week, while grocers of the entire United States are devoting themselves to special displays of Coffee, it is highly desirable that the readers of this paper consider a few facts in regard to this most popular of all beverages.

This country drinks nearly one-half of all the Coffee grown in the world. And the American appetite for Coffee is constantly growing.

In the last six months of 1919 we Americans drank three billion more cups of coffee than we drank in the same period of 1918.

This liking for coffee by Americans is easily understood.

America is an active, virile nation. As a nation we require food that sustains body and brain at high efficiency.

Coffee is pleasing to the palate, but it is also refreshing and invigorating. It supplies strength and staying power. It stimulates the brain and relieves fatigue of mind and muscle. It helps men and women to endure exposure and withstand hard work.

Let Coffee be your everyday drink. Drink Coffee because it is nourishing. Drink it because it lightens fatigue, sustains energy and aids digestion. Drink Coffee because it is satisfying and healthful.

Make Coffee Week the occasion for an intimate Coffee-chat with your grocer. He will see that you are suited absolutely on Coffee.

How Is Your Weight?

While it is true that too much weight is not to be desired yet the fact remains that many fine men and women are thin to the point of danger. This danger lies in their having no reserve force or nerve power to combat deadly diseases. A little extra flesh is needed by all to feel well and to look well, and this calls up the question of how best to increase the weight. Physicians and chemists by experiments have proved the system of increasing the white and red corpuscles of the blood by the administration of 3 grain hypo-nuclease tablets and this is usually followed by an increase of weight. Obtain in sealed packages, and take for a period of several months, according to directions with package.—Advertisement.

VICE OPERATORS UNDER ORDERS

Newport Naval Court Testimony Shows They Had Specific Instructions

Newport, R. I., March 30.—Orders given to naval operators by Irving Arnold in the vice crusade were read at the naval court of inquiry and left little doubt that the operators were acting under instructions and not on their own initiative.

Former Ensign William H. Drury said he had never seen orders giving Lieutenant Hudson charge of the operators, but added that he understood Hudson was in charge.

"Is it not a fact that you went to the Red Cross headquarters and received reports of operators from March 18 to April 17?" asked the judge-advocate.

"They were not submitted to me officially," Drury replied, adding that he did not think a line ensign outranked a lieutenant in the Medical Corps.

"Did Admiral Wood tell you to stop the court or the investigation?" Drury was asked.

"He told me to stop the court. The men were told to go ahead and report what they heard and keep up association with suspects, but not to proceed officially," was the answer.

"If Captain Campbell's orders were revoked March 18, why did you swear in Preston Paul March 25?"

"I swore him in to maintain secrecy."

NEWSIES' PARTY IN MANCHESTER

Manchester, N. H., March 30.—Well, tonight's the night, all right, and a big time will be had by all at the Palace Theatre here. High jinks and great doin's are in the air, for tonight 100—yes, one hundred, count 'em—Boston American "newsies" are having a theatre party.

Movies, vaud'ville an' everything, you're said it. And they are to be the guests of Black Brothers, agents for the American in Manchester. The performance will start at 7, yes s-e-v-e-n o'clock and there'll be something doing every minute of the time.

The pedestrian circulation department will march to the theatre by the shortest route, of course.

The Brothers Black will stage their principal entertainment before the theatre is reached, so that with the preliminaries successfully furnished, there is no doubt an all round good time will be enjoyed in Manchester's newspaper kiddom.

"BASEBALL STRIKE" TIES UP PLYMOUTH FACTORY

Plymouth, March 30.—The call of the baseball season caused a dozen youths to strike and shut down the Ripley & Bartlett Nail Company's factory in this town. They asked $15 a week, an increase of $2, saying that with the extra money the "team" could buy uniforms for the coming season. The company refused and the walkout followed. The boys are all about seventeen years old and feed metal strips into stamping machines which turn out the nails.

FULL BENCH SUSTAINS HOUTENBRINK'S FINE

On charges of unlawful practice of optometry he was fined $50, and of medicine, $100.

By International News Service.

New York, March 30.—English women were called "slave wives" today by Mrs. Clara Alice Crouch, English born, and formerly a prominent nurse woman, suing her husband, George Crouch, business man, for separation.

Mrs. Crouch declared she had lived as a slave to her husband, polishing his shoes and brushing his clothes for twelve years, until she learned he was attentive to another woman.

"English women have none of the liberties American women enjoy," she said. "My mother taught me to be a servant to my husband."

Mrs. Crouch declared her husband had asked her to divorce him, "so he could marry another woman." Crouch has a yearly income of $50,000, it is said. Justice Kapper reserved decision.

Eight million horses, and the faithful dogs and other animals that gave their lives and service in the World War were honored today in the unveiling of a memorial tablet commemorating their heroism, at the State House.

YANKS IN ROW OVER MONEY

Players Threaten Strike Over Division of Third Place Coin, But Play Ball

Jacksonville, March 30.—Some of the members of the New York American League Club were reported to have threatened a strike in a warm discussion with Colonels Ruppert and Huston, the owners, shortly before the team went on the field and gave Florida fans a treat by trouncing the Reds by 8 to 7.

Pratt, Shawkey and Peckinpaugh boarded the Colonels in their hotel, acting as a committee for the players, to demand a new deal on the split of $13,000 third place money, regarding the division of which there has been much discussion. The players declared they had about $70 apiece coming, and they wanted a decision. In effect, Ruppert and Huston told them it was against custom to discuss such a matter with players instead of the manager, but that they would announce their decision Wednesday.

Pratt was said to have retorted that that would not be satisfactory and that an immediate decision was wanted. The owners were adamant and the committee consulted with the other players, during which the advisability of striking and refusing to cross bats with the Reds was discussed.

But Colonels Ruppert and Huston did not recede in the face of a threat to strike, and the men huddled to the field and won a good game.

It is reported that one or two of the Yanks will probably be traded as a result of the threat.

EVERS WANTS TO TRY COMEBACK

Troyjohn Certain He Can Hit Restricted Pitching of This Season

New York, March 30.—Johnny Evers, the Trojan, wants to come back into the baseball game, now that they have barred the pitchers from using freak deliveries. Johnny is quite certain that the very pitchers who caused his batting average to dwindle to a mere nothing toward the end of his service with the big league, would be soft picking for him now.

"I'd like to have a chance to take a crack at these fellows now that they have to pitch on the level," he told President Heydler of the National League today. "What a plastering I would give them and what a plastering some of them are going to get all around. I could beat them pretty well before they got to using emery and other things and I could beat them again if I get the chance."

PAUL DOYLE KAYOS JOHNNY THOMPSON

Paul Doyle of Boston stopped Johnny Thompson of Brooklyn in the furth round of the main bout at the Casino A. C., Lynn, in the semi-final Freddy Madden of East Boston won in eight rounds over Battling Hurley of Boston. George Lee of Revere defeated Freddie Munroe of Charlestown in four rounds and Freddy Williams of Beverly knocked out Bob Ambrose of Cambridge in the third round.

Georgetown Beaten by Vermont, 5-3

Washington, March 30.—Clyde Eagle's University of Vermont nine defeated Georgetown, 5 to 3, in a game that went 13 innings. The local nine had to wage an uphill fight, for the Vermonters tallied four runs in the opening inning. Some fine pitching was displayed for so early in the season. Dube and Hyman each struck out nine and Reynolds seven. Each team got five hits.

"....I'm first cousin to the guy who carried coals to Newcastle."

The laugh is on me", chuckled A. J. C., who likes to tell a good one on himself.

"I came across Ricoro when I was in Porto Rico several winters ago and was taken to the factory in San Juan where they are made.

"I was so enthusiastic that the manufacturer presented me with a hundred, but, remembering the high duty I once paid on some Havana cigars, I thought I'd take a chance and not declare the Ricoros.

"When the Customs Man at New York went through my stuff, I was feeling mighty nervous. And when he opened my hat-box—brim-full of fat Ricoros—I was almost scared to death!

"'Oh, ho!' he said, 'I see you've brought home the finest cigars that Porto Rico produces!'

"'Er—well—yes', I admitted weakly, wondering what the penalty would be for not declaring the cigars.

"'Yes', continued the Customs Man, 'I always smoke Ricoros myself—get the saratogas at the United Cigar Stores for 9c each. Luckily for all us smokers, there's no duty on cigars from Porto Rico.

"'What! I can get Ricoro at United!—Friend,' I cried, sighing with relief, 'that's even better news than knowing I don't have to go to jail!'"

Sooner or later you'll discover Ricoro,—the moment you do, you'll declare it the mellowest, balmiest cigar you have ever smoked. Ricoro is beautifully made and sells at popular prices only because it is imported from Porto Rico duty free. A dozen shapes and sizes—8c to 3 for 50c.—Sold only in United Cigar Stores—"Thank You!"

RUDOLPH TODAY'S CHOICE

Big Jack Scott, Stallings New Star, Proves Good Twirler for Detroit

By NICK FLATTERY.

Spencer, N. C., March 30.—Braves and Tigers, with everything even, three games each, foregathered today on the village square and continued this hectic series. After a touch of real life over in Asheville, which is the Newport of South or something, the athletes are back again in the hamlet that did low map so frequently down this way.

The only thing in Asheville that wasn't modern and up to time was the ball yard, which happened to be one of the worst encountered this far, though the worst is yet to come, up in the mining districts of West Virginia. The fences were built very close to the home plate and there was plenty of hitting—by the Tigers.

The score of the fray was 12 to 2, most of Tiger dean counters being carved off the delivery of Big Jack Scott, who joined the Braves Sunday, after working out a week at Columbus. The training certainly made him accurate, for he never missed the Tiger bats.

Prior to that Joseph Oeschger had whirled through five very smooth chapters, being nicked for two little hits, and a lone tally. Joseph showed the populace and the Tigers that he was ready for a good season. He has been training carefully under Coach Dugey, and has learned to cover up his delivery, something he never did do before.

Oeschger Shows Plenty of Stuff

He has plenty of stuff, and now seems to have acquired just enough control to get them over when he has to, and to keep the batters worried at the same time. Young Jay Moran made his series debut, after Scott had been blasted off the peak and did very well until the eighth when he was dented for four runs after two were out. He slipped in the mud around the box and pulled early grounder and then Veach and Heilman propelled torrid doubles, and Pulliam followed the spree by and away over the centre field fence.

While the pitching held up, the Braves looked good at the bat on the enemy, which is what you might call very encouraging. Slim Love southpawed four innings and he was assaulted for one score. The other was grabbed off Clausler, a Detroit home product, who is headed for a visit by Jennings. He had a weird windup and a dinky curve that had the Boston swatters badly puzzled.

Rudolph was ready to start today's affair with Hugh Bedient and the heave about ready to step in for relief duty. Dink is in shape now, and will be kept out of action whenever the weather or the grounds are unusually bad. There was a touch of Winter in the air of Asheville and the heroes performed bundled up in sweaters, which did not make for fast playing.

The biggest crowd of the trip was squeezed into the handbox park, so the game was a success, as far as the money went.

Stallings to Work Pitchers Longer

It is the intention of Manager Stallings from now on to let his pitchers work longer stretches. To date Lucas is the only hurler who has gone the distance. The Georgian doesn't feel quite as gloomy about his sharp shooting as he did down at Columbia. The fact that Oeschger has come through has cheered him greatly, while both Pillingim and McQuillan have appeared mighty nifty when they were called on.

This gives the Braves Rudolph, Oeschger, Pillingim and McQuillan as four dependables, to start with, while the game Hayres chucked the other day makes him a very likely boxman for the beginning of the campaign, anyway. Bedient might be mentioned, is sure of a job somewhere on the team, as he is just about the best hitter on the roster. He never goes after a bad ball, and when he hits the sphere travels.

By HUGH S. FULLERTON.

Astonishing things are revealed by the compilation of the position value figures of the major league infields. While the average strengths of the infields of the two leagues show more than a four per cent. degeneration from the pre-war strengths, and while infield strengths are fairly well balanced, the fact remains that, outside of Cleveland, there is not a team in either league up to the standard of major league infields of former years, although Cincinnati makes up in consistency much of what she loses in individual strength.

The Reds, with an infield which looks weak, still lead the clubs of the National, because of the balance of the veterans who compose it. The fact that, in spite of the reductions in values from their high showing of last season, which is necessary, the Reds still lead, constitutes the surprise. The other fine infields of former years—that of the Giants especially—are broken to pieces and in process of remodeling, allowing the Reds to show a clear superiority.

But the greatest surprise found in the figures is in the tremendous gain in strength which the Pittsburgh and St. Louis teams, which, at first glance, do not appear strong contenders.

If these continue to show, in outfield, pitching and catching the added strength of gain in strength that they show on the infield dope, we must conclude that they are serious contenders for championship instead of chronic second division clubs. The lack of that same consistency which the Reds show reduces their figure values somewhat, but not enough to oust them from second place. With St. Louis only seven points behind.

Average of National League Is Weak

One most study the National League with extreme care because final league is in process of development, and it is within the range of possibility for a new championship team to spring up almost anywhere. The average of the league is so weak that the pennant may be marked up for anywhere from a tailender into a pennant-winner.

The remarkable lack of attacking strength in both leagues is becoming more and more evident as we study the figures. In that connection we must watch closely the effect of the deadening of baseballs which are designed to increase the hitting powers of all the teams and which must, therefore, detract from the pitching values.

Chicago's clubs, with their veteran and fundamentally sound infields, covered by the brilliant youngster Hollocher, holds fourth rank and it is probable that the Cubs will improve to the league pre-eminence which is the design of engines in the Windy City for fourth place and about 3 A

Wouldn't Mind Losing All of His Ribs

If Adam were going on this trip, we would be willing to wager an even per berth against a spare strab in an elevated train that they could have the surface sounds. They are so busy playing ball games, eating and running for trains that they are eager to retire to the Pullman second. With St. Louis only seven points behind.

Any Good American Schoolboy Team Would Have Beaten Oxford and Cambridge

By CHARLES E. PARKER.

An American schoolboy track and field team—had it been allowed to compete—would have outscored the varsity arrays of both Cambridge and Oxford in their recent dual meet in London.

Such an American team would have cleaned up in the field events, and would have made many more points in the dashes and runs. And, in view of the facts that the Antwerp Olympic games are but a few months away and that many of the Cambridge and Oxford athletes will be awarded places on the British Olympic team, it is not in the least surprising that English sport writers are conceding the 1920 Olympic championship to representatives of the U. S. A.

W. G. George of Lillebridge, England, holder of the world's professional one mile record, and regarded as a leading authority in track athletics abroad, recently stated in an article that England has the finest lot of athletes in her history, and, as many of the men he mentioned were from Cambridge and Oxford, the recent dual meet was watched with interest.

In several instances in that meet his predictions ran true—Montague of Oxford running a mile to excellent time of 14 minutes, 42 3-5 seconds for the three-mile run; and Rudd of Oxford winning the half mile in 1 minute, 57 2-5 seconds. In the other events, however, the marks were either very ordinary, or far below those expected—this being particularly true in the field events.

Schoolboys' Marks Over Here Often Better

A mark of 5 feet 7 inches—usually equalled and very often bettered by American schoolboys—won the running high jump; a throw of 160 feet, 11 inches—a mark which schoolboys habitually surpass—won the hammer event; a heave of 40 feet, 9 inches—another mark that American schoolboys often have bettered—captured the shotput; while Rudd of Oxford, in the field events, 23 feet, 7 inches in the broad jump—is more than 12 inches short of the American schoolboy record.

Expert George in his recent article made no mention of Britain's entries in the field events of the coming Olympiad, except to state that S. H. Baker—whose high jump mark last year was 5 feet 11 inches—is capable of 6 feet 2 inches. In view of the marks of Cambridge and Oxford athletes in the recent meet, and remembering also that Scandinavian athletes captured all but one of the field events in the 1912 British Olympic championships, his reason for neglecting the field branches of the game becomes apparent.

The reason is that Great Britain has no weight or jump men of outstanding ability, and that whatever victory the subjects of King George gain in the Antwerp games will come in the sprints and runs, and—by virtue of Earl Thomson's Canadian citizenship and American coaching—in the hurdles.

LIEUT.-COL. DEGEN TO INSPECT CAVALRY HERE

Lieutenant-Colonel John E. Degen, No. 858 Commonwealth avenue, formerly military attache at The Hague, will take up his duties as instructor-inspector of cavalry for the Northeastern Department.

He will have charge of inspecting the cavalry for Rhode Island and later on for Massachusetts, when the National Guard is formed in this State.

N. E. Princeton Fund

The endowment fund raised by Princeton University has reached $6,058,703.53 since its inauguration six months ago. New England has raised $160,000 of this, New York city, which quarters the largest number of Princeton graduates, leading all sections of the country by a wide margin.

Harvard Coaches Cut Baseball Squads

"Jack" Slattery, the varsity baseball coach, and Dr. William Young, instructor of the Crimson Freshman squad, slashed their squads to 24 men. An equal number of varsity players have gone to Cuba for practice in order to form a second team with a regular schedule and a similar course will be followed by the less fortunate freshman players.

SOX GREETED BY GEOGRAPHERS

Discourse to Greenville, Miss., Savants Anent Grand Tour With Giants

By JACK CONWAY

Greenville, Miss., March 30.—The Greenville Geographical bee city welcomed the Red Sox and Giants after our flock of Pullmans were safely attached to their moorings in the local ice plant yards.

Benny Kauff and Pat Flaherty took turns in telling the native geography experts about the places we have been, and the cities which we shall visit before our sleeping cars are released for the Summer traffic. One of the bright lights among the Greenville experts suggested it would be an excellent idea to include Buenos Aires and Madrid in the grand tour. This motion, however, was not seconded as the athletes couldn't get any practise hopping into upper berths if they took one of those sea voyages where everybody hangs over a stray railing.

The players will not see a regular bed until they arrive in New York a week from Friday night. This plan of the management is unnecessary for our baseball heroes to ask for passes to permit them to remain out after the curfew sounds. They are so busy playing ball games, eating and running for trains that they are eager to retire to the Pullman second. With St. Louis only seven points behind.

BARNES LEADING WALTER HAGEN

By ROBERT E. HARLOW.

Pinehurst, N. C., March 28.—Jim Barnes and Walter Hagen had a tough task laid out for them when they started today in the final thirty-six holes for the North and South open golf championship. These prime favorites discovered on the first day that they were up against some real stars, and Barnes finished the first eighteen holes two strokes behind the leaders, while Hagen was six numbers away from the top.

Hagen not only was up against a six-stroke handicap for the lead, but Jim Barnes had a four-stroke advantage on him. The contest for position between Hagen and Barnes is carrying more wagers than anything else in the tournament. Large galleries were on the course today to watch the two leading stars struggle to cut down the leads their brother professionals established in the first eighteen holes.

Barnes generally reserved today that Martin O'Laughlin of Plainfield, N. J., and Lou Tellier of Brae-Burn would not hold the fast pace they set when they completed the first 18 holes in 146 shots and were tied for the lead with Fred McLeod of Washington. The big fellows had no respect, and fear, however, for McLeod, as he has always been a difficult boy to catch once he gets a start on the field.

Pinehurst Pros Do Not Crack

Emmet French and George McLean, the two professionals who have been playing Pinehurst all Winter, did not wilt under the strain of the tournament competition as some of the wise ones predicted. Each shot well enough to be within reach of first money. French was in a tie with Clarence Hackney of Atlantic City for fourth place and McLean was two shots in the rear.

The first day's play was not to the liking of the champion. He fussed considerably all day, and repeatedly acted on his putting green as if he objected to sand. A few very first hole a bit of sand stuck to his ball when he made his approach putt and after missing a four-footer for a four he exclaimed that it was unfortunate that the ball hadn't been because the sand took it off its proper course.

Hagen fought all the way, and proved his backers they could count on him to make a real battle for honors today. He did not put the ball nearly as well as he did up to the grass on the first day, but managed to be as well as he had would have been under par on a number of very trying holes as to what club to use.

The amateurs who started in the tournament with the professionals have been playing finished golf all Winter. Perry Adair, Jimmy Standwood and Ellsworth Augustus and Bobby Jones, but Jess Hamilton, one of Pinehurst's "old timers." Hamilton was the only amateur to land with a putter from 100 yards. He found the pros speedy company and finished the first day's play in a tie for thirty-eighth place. He had an 81 and an 80 at last, which figures would put him into the first sixteen in the North and South amateur

Low Scores Mark First Day's Play

The scoring was low and the board presented a vastly different aspect from the same sheet at the time the Spring tournament was held here. Sam Graham, the medalist in the Spring medal, was among those who picked up. Lou Tellier made the best showing of the New England professionals and although many expect him to drop back in the last lap the Brae-Burn professional is still very much like shooting them today. Lou played with Mike Brady, a Boston lassie in the three innings he worked.

Jesse Barnes and Rosey Ryan, the former Holy Cross star, showed too much by piloting cases for the Sox. Ryan had a fast ball which was a puzzle. It looks as though Ryan was up in the big league to stay.

MAKEUP OF HARVARD CREW NOT SETTLED

Coach Bill Haines is not certain that the rearranged order of the varsity will hold until the race with the Naval Academy eight.

"Until we get the oar," says Haines, "Crew is a funny proposition and the season is much too young to decide on the relative value of the oarsmen. I expect to have the best eight men in the squad together to race the Naval Academy."

Harvard's latest varsity order is, Bow, Sayer; two, Bevins; three, Pond; six, Low McCagg; five, Sedgewick; four, Duncan; three, Terry; two, Kane; bow, Capt. Davis, cox, Pierson.

BATTLING THOMAS KAYOS JOHNNY VETO

There were but twelve rounds of boxing at the Commonwealth A. A. show, but there was plenty of it.

K. O. Muggy of East Boson was present, but did not box because of the rulings. Muggy's place and saved Johnny Veto of Chelsea in the third round.

The initial prelim, a six-rounder between Young Tansey and "Red" Chapman, went the distance and was a lively affair all of the way. It was called a draw.

Bob Brennan of Charlestown won over Jack O'Donnell of Roxbury in the first round

MILLAR AND WHELAN IN BOWLING MATCH

Led Millar of Revere, holder of the world's record for ten strings in competition, meets Jim Whelan of Cambridge for the final ten strings of a twenty-string match for a purse of $500 and the championship. The leads on the first ten strings are 10 pins. Match will be held at the new Boston Alleys.

SCHOOL NINES OUT SOON

Suburban High Teams Class in Local Baseball; Newton Looks Strong

By TOM POWER.

High school baseball has now started in earnest. Only two weeks remain before the call of "play ball" will sound across the schoolboy diamond.

The Suburban League, which is made up of Somerville, Everett, Medford, Malden, Cambridge Latin, Hingham Technical School, Brookline and Newton, opens its schedule April 10. This league was the class of the schoolboy diamond activities last season, and should be this Spring.

Newton High School, champions of the league, will be represented by a strong nine this season. Five of the players of last year's team are back. Captain Seavey, Peppard, Ayles, Cowling and Bjorkman all reported to the first call for candidates. The absence of Fred Sawyer, the mainstay of the team of last year, now in college, will be felt, but there are many new players whom Coach Dickinson can count on with his veterans to turn out a good team.

Everett High School, a first division team in 1919, will have only three of the last year's team back. Roy Kelley, Buck Sweetland and Beck, all of whom play in the infield, will form a clever trio around which Coach Kearney can build his team. Kelley and Sweetland were both awarded a place on the Boston American interscholastic team last season

Promising Squad at Cambridge Latin

Coach Leo McDonald has a very promising squad at Cambridge Latin School. Very few of the players of last year's team have been lost by graduation and a good nine should be turned out. The biggest problem Coach McDonald has is his pitching staff. Fifteen boys, however, have reported for practice on the big field. Perez Cote, John McGowan, "Izzy" Zarakov and Saywood are some of the players back from last year.

Somerville High should be one of the league contenders this season as there is plenty of material from last year. Rollan Bowker and Bailey, two of the pitchers of last year, will both be available again this Spring.

Of the other four teams in the league, Medford, Malden, Brookline and Hinges, the two first named teams have the better material. Neither Hinges nor Brookline made a very good showing last year and their chances this year do not look especially bright.

The Boston City League team will start outdoor practice this week. English High will work out on the Washington street playground, Latin will use the Dot Walk, Dorchester will train at the Dunbar avenue grounds and M. A. H. S. will go to the North Bridgton playground every day for their practice.

TAD'S TIDBITS

THE GREATEST FIGHTER HE EVER SAW.

Dear Tad: The greatest fighter I ever saw was Dave Campbell of Portland, Oregon. He fought J. J. Corbett to a standstill when Corbett was in his prime. He was only beaten once, and by the orginal Jack Dempsey, in three rounds with skin gloves. He then came East and met all comers, putting them away in less than four rounds each.

His last fight was the most glorious of all. He was chief of the fire department in his home city of Portland, Ore., and he would not allow his men to enter a burning building at the head of a hose until he first went in. He never came out alive, but he saved his men. Show me any fighter that ever made a braver fight or a gamer fight

TITLE BATTLE ON TONIGHT

O'Dowd-Eagan Bout Is First Real Championship Affair Here for Long Time

Tonight is the night in Boston fistic circles and every red-blooded woni fan will be on hand when Dorchester Joe Eagan clashes for the middleweight championship of the world with Mike O'Dowd, at the Armory A. A. show at Mechanics Building

As this is the first honest-to-goodness championship bout that has been fought in this city, since Hector was a pup and if the talk that is going around down town is any indication of what the attendance will be Ivy Lewis will have to lock the doors to keep the fans from crowding one another off the rafters.

As for condition, both men are in the pink and both are confident of their power to topple the other before the end of the twelfth round The bout will be not set up as the class of both men is well known to Boston fans who have had an opportunity to look them over as both men have fought here

O'Dowd, on his arrival in town, announced that he was going to win by a knockout.

O'Dowd Confident He'll Kayo Eagan

Not only is O'Dowd confident that he will flatten Dorchester Joe, but he has announced that he is out for a bout with Carpentier and that he thinks that if the Frenchman takes him on that he will give him quite a warm session. Mike says that he thinks that he is the logical man for Carpentier to box first.

Joe Eagan has bet his bankroll that he will become middleweight king tonight. Joe is confident of his ability to win over the St. Paul wonder and points to the time when he met O'Dowd and defeated him on points. Joe says he can repeat his win over the champion, if not by a K. O. at least by a decision.

Burt Jones of Revere and Johnny Brown of Newport will fight it out in the semi-final of eight rounds, while Charley Elkins and Freddy Madden will battle in another session of eight rounds. Larry Maltis and Toppy Leahy battle for the decision in the curtain-raiser.

Portsmouth, N. H., March 30.—Peter Sturgis of Worcester defeated Bill Dryden in straight falls at Freeman's Hall.

Zbyszko and Londos Win Their Bouts

New York, March 30.—Stanislaus Zbyszko, the Polish wrestler, defeated John Olin in 52 minutes at the 71st Regiment Armory by a combination toe and body hold

Zbyszko showed flashes of speed at times; then again, when he had Olin in an advantageous position, he merely held him down and busied himself with counting the house.

The Jim Londos-William Demeral bout came to a sudden end when Londos threw his opponent out of the ring, breaking the latter's collar bone. The men had been wrestling one hour, 52 minutes and 50 seconds when the accident occurred. The referee gave the decision to Londos.

This Day in History—March 30, 1920

THIS is the anniversary of the Sicilian Vespers, in 1282, when the French in Sicily were massacred while the bells were ringing for vespers. Charles of Anjou had his own barbarity and insolence to thank for the uprising which cost him a crown.

A Bird of Ill-Omen

THE raven figures in many superstitions and is invariably considered a bird of ill-omen, and its unexpected appearance a sign of death or disaster. He was dedicated by the Romans to Apollo, and there is a strange Greek legend telling how the bird was changed from white to black.

THE YOUNG DIANA

Story of Tense Mystery in Which Heroine Holds Key to Youth

By Marie Corelli

"You will have your own suite of rooms and your own special hours of leisure for private reading and study, and all your meals will be subject, though we should like you to share them with us at our table, if you have no objection. And when you are not at work, or otherwise engaged, I should be personally much obliged if you would be kind and conversable to my mother."

Diana could scarcely speak, she was so overcome. In a few brief sentences she thanked the multimillionaire and generous author of her being.

"You are too good!" she faltered. "You wish to know the price for my abilities—very!"

"I must be the best judge of that," he said and moving to a table desk in the centre of the room he opened a drawer and took out a paper. "Will you come here and read this." And then he added:

She went to his side, and taking the paper from his hand, read it carefully through. It was an agreement, simply and briefly worded which bound her as confidential assistant and private secretary to Fedor Dimitrius for the time of one year—positive—with the proviso standing that if a period should be extended to two years if agreeable to both parties. [illegible] months' [illegible] own disposal [illegible] in a reasonable [illegible] terms was [illegible]

"A good signature," commented Dimitrius. "If [illegible] expresses anything, you should be possessed of a strong will and a good brain. Have you ever had occasion to exercise either?"

Diana thought a moment, then laughed.

"Yes—in a policy of repression!"

A humorous sparkle in his eyes responded to her remark.

"I understand. Well, now—and he put away the signed agreement in a drawer of his desk, and locked it—You must begin to obey me at once! You will first come and have some breakfast, and I'll introduce you to my mother. Next, you will return to your hotel, [illegible] your bill, and [illegible] your luggage. I can show you a short cut back to the town, through these grounds and by the border of the lake. It is [illegible] our friend [illegible] about a hundred pounds."

Part Payment

"Here is an English bank-note for that sum," said Dimitrius, taking it from a roll of paper money in his desk. "Send it to her in a registered letter. And here is an extra fifty-pound note for my friend—as [illegible] you will understand you have drawn this money in advance of your salary. Now when you get to your hotel have your luggage taken to the railway station and left in the Salle des Bagages—they will give you a number for it. Then when all this is done, walk quietly back here by the same private path through the grounds which you will presently become acquainted with, and I will send a man I sometimes employ to fetch your belongings. [illegible] this is the good [illegible] of Geneva will be [illegible] what [illegible] remains of your [illegible] you have chosen to go [illegible] me?"

Quite!" answered Diana—"And I shall obey you in every particular."

Good! Now come and see my mother."

TRADING QUIET FROM START

Crucible Steel Led List for Activity; Stutz Motor Kept on Climbing

By W. H. ROSS,
Financial Editor

Stocks were strong in New York at noon, prices being at about the highest morning level. But trading was quiet from the start. Forenoon transactions totaled but 280,000 shares. Stutz Motor kept on climbing, leading the list for gains. Crucible followed in this respect.

Steels improved as a class. Call money renewed at 8 per cent. Sterling exchange took a big drop, demand sterling being off about 7 cents at 3.85¾ in preliminary quotations. The figure is about 10 cents below its recent high. Francs were quoted at 14.92 and Lire at 20.57.

MONEY DOUBTS A RESTRAINT.

Opening irregular, prices advanced quickly, only to react to some extent and they moved backward and forward during the first hour in a manner reflecting the uncertainty of the professional element which mainly made the market. At the end of an hour it was strong, the movement having been generally upward. Uncertainty as to what will develop in regard to money was the chief restraint upon the advance. The New York situation is said to be improved, but the report for the whole federal reserve banking system last week was less encouraging. The influx of gold from Japan has given exchange rates expected support. It is said now that the recent advance of the latter was a discounting of European shipments of yellow metal to New York. The recessional of yesterday and the rise of the call rate scared the public. When wire service to the West was restored it brought few orders to buy from that section. Eastern demand also diminished. The public seems to be still afflicted with the speculative itch, but quite wary.

STUTZ AT NEW HIGH.

Stutz opened at the new high record price of 140, a gain of eleven on the first transaction. It sold as high as 145 during the first hour. It was not an active issue. Crucible opened with a two-point gain and soon increased it to more than nine. Other especially strong issues in early trading were General Motors, Mexican Petroleum, Pan-American, Stromberg, American Locomotive, Atlantic Gulf and Chandler. They moved up from two to six points in an hour. Kelly-Springfield opened at a four-point decline, but most losses were small. Rails drooped, but were not dealt in to any extent. New Haven was the weakest carrier. Coppers ruled higher on a few transactions. Steel, equipment and shipping shares displayed group strength. A good demand for stocks was reported from the loan market, with rates ruling at 10 per cent. for industrials and 8 per cent. for rails. Stutz again loaned at 1 per cent premium.

ORPHEUM HIGH IN BOSTON

Prices Rule Irregular in Morning Trading; Oils Weak on the Curb

The Boston market had an indefinite movement at the opening and developed a rather heavy tone. It was a rather narrow market in every sense during the morning. Orpheum, which sold at its high for the year, and Carson Hill were the most active issues. The first named was the strongest of the two. Coppers were quiet and ruled lower. Auto accessories were sluggish. This was due to cash with packing issues also. Trading was of small volume and presented little to inspire interest.

Point or more gains were made during the forenoon by Orpheum and United Fruit, while small gains were credited to East Butte, Wolverth, National Leather and American Telephone.

Issues to recede a point included Calumet and Arizona, Pacific Mills and Waltham Watch. Fractional losses were sustained by Isle Royale, Utah Apex, New Cornelia, Utah Consolidated, U. S. Smelting, Elder, Swift & Co. and North Butte.

Much of the demand for Orpheum is reported to be from the West. Attendance at local commission houses increased today.

CURB HAS QUIET START.

The Curb market was subdued at the outset. It showed little change in prices as a rule. The weakness of high priced oils was an early feature. Simms Petroleum sold at its year's lowest, being off 3% at 27. It receded half a point on the first sale. Chilliland began at a point decline. White Oil gained a fraction at the opening. Arizona Silver was the early leader for activity and was strong. It advanced 20 cents to 1 3-16. Silver stocks were stronger as a class at the beginning.

At the end of an hour United Verde Extension was up ¼ at 34½. Unfavorable Silver 4 cents at 14 cents and Silver Reef 1 cent at 11 cents. Among declines were Manhattan 7 cent at 70 cents, Red Warrior 2 cents at 41 cents and Alvarado new ¼ at 20¾.

BOSTON FINANCIAL NOTES.

IT'S WHITE AND $1.00

NEW SAFETY PAPER is an investment for profit as well as for dividends, BUT IT IS NOT A GAMBLE. It is something, however, that you can buy and make more money on than you can when you win on a gamble. GET THAT! It is not seeking shareholders with the idea that you can buy today and sell tomorrow—perhaps at a profit, probably at a loss. The only WHITE way to make money is to buy NEW SAFETY PAPER and hold it until the buying has had a chance to earn dividends and by so doing largely increase the value of the shares.

NEW SAFETY PAPER will be largely consumed by banks, large corporations and government offices, as it is the only WHITE paper which can be used for books of account, stocks and bonds, and which can not be tampered with, without instant detection.

NEW SAFETY PAPER is not a listed stock. Neither is the stock of any bank listed, yet there is a ready market for many bank stocks at 5 to 10 times their par value. So should there be a ready market for New Safety Paper shares when the earning power has been demonstrated.

Many people believe that money can not safely be invested to yield over 5%; but, in 1919, the associated Clearing House banks of New York City earned 190% on their combined capital, as shown by official reports. Think it over.

Last year, Gillette Safety Razor earned over 27% on $22,000,000 of capital. How much on the original investment? Ask Gillette. Then think that over.

George Eastman started with nothing, has given away $20,000,000 and has a few left. Do you think he made it @ 5%? Do you think any of the above money was invested wisely?

NEW SAFETY PAPER is out for a similar record. Think that over. Investigate it; invest in it, and freeze to it. IT'S WHITE.

Measures That Would Cure Most of the Troubles and Tendencies Which Distress and Alarm Us Today

(1) To nominate for the Presidency by direct nomination and to elect by popular vote.
(2) To elect the Cabinet officers and make them responsible to Congress.
(3) To deprive the President of the power of patronage; to put public offices as nearly as possible under Civil Service, and have appointments made by a committee of Congress.
(4) To elect Federal Judges, including Supreme Court Justices, by popular vote.
(5) To apply the Initiative, the Referendum and the Recall to national matters.

Hays' Measure for Big Rent Conference Should Pass

Urgent necessity requires extraordinary measures. From every land from those in the best position to know comes the cry that the question of rent profiteering and housing is one of urgency. No one even attempts to deny this urgency.

To bring about legislation which will solve this problem in the best possible way, Representative Martin Hays of Brighton has introduced a most remarkable order in the House of Representatives.

This calls for an extraordinary conference, at which the Governor, the Lieutenant-Governor, the President of the Senate, the Speaker of the House, the Chief Justices of the Supreme Judicial and of the Superior Courts, the chairman of the Commission on the Necessaries of Life are invited to meet the members of the Joint Judiciary Committee, which has Representative Hays' bill under consideration. Such a conference will be remarkable because it will be the first of the kind ever held, in which the heads of the executive, judicial and legislative departments met to discuss a proposed law.

That this conference should take place in regard to the rent legislation, irrespective of the fact that tradition is against such a consultation, no thinking person can deny.

If the rent problem is to be settled there must be legislation. It is vitally important that in the construction of this legislation there be no mistake. The law must be as perfect as the best brains of the Commonwealth can make it.

This extraordinary conference will focus the most skilled talent in the public pay on the problem, and should result in a perfect law, protecting tenants and landlords equally. If the best possible law is to be enacted, it will be the outcome of such a conference.

Representative Hays is to be commended in proposing such a radical, yet sensible, departure from tradition, in his effort to settle the rent problem with justice to all, and it is to be hoped that his fellow-legislators will unanimously follow his example by doing everything which lies in their power to hasten this epoch-making consultation.

Reasons Why Southeast Looks Ahead Hopefully

The Secretary of State for Georgia, S. G. McLendon, has expressed in figures some facts about our growing Southeast which merit wide attention.

He makes the flat assertion that within a circle drawn by a two hundred-mile radius with Atlanta as the centre there lie more potentialities and prospects for immediate commercial and industrial development than are to be found within an equal area elsewhere on the globe.

A bold statement, that! Let us examine his proof.

Remembering that iron, coal and waterpower are the bases of industrial growth, Mr. McLendon points out that within Georgia, Alabama and Tennessee lie 95,000,000,000 tons of coal and 1,250,000,000 tons of iron in closest juxtaposition, while from streams of Appalachian origin alone 8,540,000 horsepower of hydro-electric energy are capable of development, equal to the power available from the yearly consumption of 55,000,000 tons of coal.

That, however, is not all. Within easy reach from this charmed circle are 125,000,000 tons of phosphate rock and 40,000,000 tons of potash, to say nothing of the nitrates to be derived at Mussel Shoals.

Add a salubrious climate which permits year-round production, and a people alert and progressive, and it would seem that Secretary McLendon had just about proved his case.

Those South Dakota Returns Show No Big Drift for Wood

The South Dakota returns are not decisive. The small plurality for General Wood represents two factors:

1—His inheritance of a remnant of the Roosevelt following, and

2—The advantage due to priority in the field, superior organization and profuse expenditures.

That Hiram Johnson, with a small volunteer organization and practically no funds, should, solely on the strength of his upstanding personality and uncompromising Americanism, although a late entry, come so close to polling a plurality shows:

1—That vigor of convictions is still a potent force in American politics, and

2—That the nomination at Chicago is not likely to be a walk-over.

Scant comfort can be drawn from the South Dakota returns by those who have been foretelling a flood of sentiment for the League of Nations. Senator Johnson is an irreconcilable, and Messrs. Wood and Lowden advocated it mildly, subject to all the Lodge reservations.

More Truth Than Poetry

Uncle Sam, the Man Without a Friend

By S. E. KISER

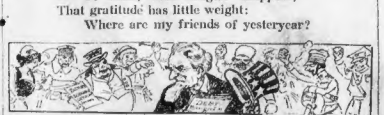
HOW swiftly changes come to pass,
How soon affection turns to hate!
Men call me selfish, mean and crass
Who lately told me I was great;
I've tried to keep my pathway straight
And let my vision still be clear;
But everywhere I'm cursed of late:
Where are my friends of yesteryear?

FROM those who erstwhile gave me praise
And called down blessings on my pate
I hear but curses nowadays,
They wish me some disastrous fate;
The beggar, having licked his plate
That once I filled, to give him cheer,
Says I'm the dev il's advocate:
Where are my friends of yesteryear?

I DID my best to prove my worth,
I did not weakly hesitate,
When evil threatened all the earth,
To aim a blow at Satan's mate;
Mine was the hand that held the gate
When others, weak and blanched with fear,
Proclaimed my coming fortunate:
Where are my friends of yesteryear?

L'Envoi.

FRIENDS! Doubtless it's a human trait
To think, when dangers disappear,
That gratitude has little weight:
Where are my friends of yesteryear?



IT'S WORTH NOTICING

There is a great difference between the man who will not borrow trouble and the one who doesn't care.

By K. C. B.

DEAR K. C. B.—In 1917, when we entered the war, a certain young man who had worked with me for quite a few years enlisted in the service of Uncle Sam, and when he was away at camp I sent him all kinds of goodies and cheerful letters to make him happy. And in his letters he spoke of things that made me think perhaps he cared a little for me.

Then the war ended and he came home. He only came to see me once. And when he left he told me he would call again. And so I waited, but he never came and never wrote, and I'm feeling like because it looks as though he just wanted my friendship through the war to cheer him up. Won't you please write something about him?

A READER OF YOUR COLUMN.

MY DEAR Girl.
BECAUSE YOURS is but one.
OF A number of letters.
THAT HAVE come to me.
WITH A like complaint.
I'M MENTIONING it.
AND I want to ask.
WHAT YOU'D have me write.
ABOUT THIS man.
AND IF I should say.
HE HADN'T been fair.
AND SHOULD have come home.
AND PROPOSED to you.
JUST IN return.
FOR SOME knitted things.
AND CIGARETTES.
AND CHEERFUL letters.
AND I want to ask.
IF YOU'LL just sit down.
AND THINK it over.
AND IF you do.
I THINK you'll agree.
THAT WHILE he was away.
AND YOU knitted things.
AND PURCHASED things.
AND WRAPPED them up.
AND SENT them away.
THAT ON every time.
A PACKAGE went.
YOU FELT a warmth.
AWAY INSIDE.
AND SOMETHING of joy.
THAT YOU had the hands.
AND YOU had the means.
THAT PERMITTED you.
TO SEND out cheer.
TO A soldier man.
WHO NEEDED cheer.
AND THE warmth you felt.
AND THE joy you had.
WAS THE pay you got.
AND THAT'S the pay.
ONE ALWAYS gets.
FOR A kindly deed.
AND YOU'LL agree.
WHEN YOU think it over.
THAT YOU shouldn't feel.
AS YOU say you feel.
ABOUT THIS man.
AND YOU'LL be glad.
AS THE years come on.
THAT YOU can look back.
AND SAY to yourself.
THAT YOU did your bit.
IN THE world's great war.
AND THAT one man.
WAS A better soldier.
FOR WHAT you did.

I THANK you.

NEW ARMY OF PEACE BUILDS MEN

By Major M. J. Moore, U. S. A.
Assistant Adjutant, Northeastern Department

BY its system of training—military, educational and vocational—the army seeks to develop in the individual a sound body and a sound mind. It strives, further, to inculcate and foster in its soldiers a proper appreciation of the dignity of labor and the happiness of industry, respect for the law and due regard for the principles of American citizenship.

The army provides at every post proper recreational facilities and has established clubs at all of its stations for the development of the social side of life.

For the benefit of those young men who are just leaving school and who have as yet made no definite plans for the future, the army offers, through its system of vocational education, advantages that deserve very careful consideration. Practically all trades and occupations are included in the army vocational courses; but, of course, they are not all being taught at any particular post. At the army posts in New England, for instance, there are now courses in more than thirty different trades and occupations.

There are opportunities and facilities at almost every army post for athletic sports and games. Physical training, in fact, forms a very important part of the soldier's education.

The primary obligation to the government of the enlisted man is to perfect himself in his military duties. In these duties he is carefully instructed by competent officers and non-commissioned officers. This training is compulsory and takes precedence over all other duties.

While undergoing military training and at the same time taking advantage of the educational and vocational courses offered in the service, soldiers are paid, according to grade, from $30 to $105 per month, in addition to which the government provides clothing, subsistence and quarters, as well as medical and dental treatment. Everything essential to the maintenance and comfort of the soldier is supplied by the government without cost.

The prospects for promotion in the army are excellent. Every year men are commissioned from the ranks. There are hundreds of officers in the army who were commissioned from the ranks. A distinguished chief of staff of the army, who died a few years ago, received his first military training as a private of cavalry.

Letters to the Editor

Free Access to Air

Editor Boston American:

It cheers the heart of every well-informed physician to see that there are still quite a proportion of women sensible enough to give the throat and chest free access to the air, for they are thereby to a great extent immune from danger of "colds," influenza and pneumonia. An eminent London physician says that it acts something like a chimney to let out the surplus heat and perspiration, as well as to give the millions of blood-vessels of the exposed parts opportunity for absorbing oxygen and eliminating carbonic acid. Wherever the skin is exposed to the air, this goes on just the same as in the lungs.

Give Them a Chance

Editor Boston American:

The navy plans to exhibit five surrendered German warships, coming to the United States. Stop it. England's invisible government is behind that scheme. The war is over. Give the loyal German-Americans a chance to be loyal Americans. They have a national right to be treated as such. German-Americans and Irish-Americans may yet save this country from English dictatorship.

Easy Mark Sam
Why Tell Him Anything?
In Dempsey and Carpentier Mixed Fighting Blood

—By Arthur Brisbane—

Copyright, 1920.

Dear old Uncle Sam, the international easy mark on the war, seems to have been left out of many secrets.

There was a private agreement in London, with Italy, of which President Wilson said he knew nothing. Now comes information of a secret treaty more than a year old, between England and the Turkish Sultan. The Sultan was to remain in Constantinople and join the ranks of make-believe rulers, like the Khedive and various rajahs. In return for his continued retention, England was to have the Dardanelles, with rulership of Syria and Mesopotamia.

Nobody here cares much about it, nobody ever imagined that this country was ever taken seriously by the Allies except as a useful banker. What Europe does with Europe, is Europe's business. If France, Italy, etc., are willing that England should have both doors to the Mediterranean, Gibraltar and the Dardanelles, that is Europe's business.

The main thing is that this country should get out and stay out of the European tangle. To have joined the so-called league, with European powers whispering together off in a corner and telling Uncle Sam, a year or two later, casually handing him the bill, would have been foolish.

The secret Turkish alliance, added to the agreement with Italy, which Mr. Wilson refused to recognize, and the solid alliance between Japan and England, are principally interesting as proofs that England has real statesmen, plenty of them, men who pay attention to England's welfare and to nothing else.

England is not blessed with sloppy international sentimentalists, putting their benevolent noses and fingers into other nations' business and neglecting their own country. For that England may be thankful.

When Carpentier fights Dempsey it will be an "international" match on a big scale. If all the ancestors looked up in the two fighters could gather at the ring side, the crowd would be more interesting than the fight.

Dempsey, Indian on his mother's side, Irish on the father's, would bring to the ring Indians painted red, with tomahawks, bows and arrows, and fighting Irishmen of the early centuries, with fine long cloaks of cow hide and readiness to fight anything.

In Carpentier's corner you would see ancient Gauls, with bronze belts around their waists, long blond hair down their shoulders, blue eyes, eurochs horns fastened to their foreheads and no fear in their hearts except that expressed by one of them to Alexander: "We only fear that the sky may fall on us."

These ancient Gauls from whom Carpentier descends would attack a burning house, or a high sea with their swords, on the ground that they would not allow anything to threaten them. No wonder he inherits fighting qualities.

In Carpentier there may be the blood of Vercingetorix, who resisted Caesar for so long, and in Dempsey the blood of an Irish king and an Apache chief, which would be a quarrelsome combination.

Those predicting Carpentier's victory pay too little attention to Dempsey's youth, height, weight and reach. Those that say Dempsey will surely win forget that Carpentier, of the two, has more years of thinking behind him. That is what wins fights of all kinds. Dempsey's Indian blood is apt to be a handicap after the third round.

The Augusta Chronicle is inviting its large family of readers in Georgia and neighboring States to vote for a favorite Democratic presidential candidate. The editor of the Chronicle declines to admit that any Republican has a chance.

It may surprise you to learn that with Marshall, Lansing, Reed, Palmer, McAdoo, Wilson, Hoover, Cox and Edwards of New Jersey on the list Edwards is leading with ease. Georgia is one of the early and determined prohibition States, yet Edwards, avowedly wet candidate, is in the lead.

Man seems to be chaseable as well as woman, and it may be a good thing for the prohibition party to nominate its own candidate.

The next step, to relieve those that have too much and add a little to the load of those that have little comes in the effort to shift taxation from big men to the little men. The Supreme Court started it, freeing owners of big corporations from tax on stock dividends. Now comes the suggestion that taxes be taken off big incomes and excess profits and the loss made up by "a small tax on the volume of business done," which means taxing little fish and letting the big fish break through the net.
